The 2018 Law and Order Ball held at Hertz Arena (formerly Germain Arena) was a very proud evening for members of the Lee County Sheriff’s Office as two of its finest took home awards for being the very best at what they do.

The annual event, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Fort Myers South, is a celebration to honor Lee County law enforcement heroes who have demonstrated exemplary conduct and achievements while making a significant impact on their agency and/or area of responsibility.

This year’s Law and Order Ball Officer of the Year is Sgt. Sylvester Smalls, a proud deputy protecting his community and helping children find better lifetime pathways. Smalls, a 21-year veteran with the Sheriff’s Office, is a mentor, coach and friend to hundreds of local youth with one goal in mind: giving back to his community by helping kids pursue higher education using their God-given talents.

Sgt. Sylvester Smalls has consistently gone above and beyond the call of duty in what he says is a “calling” on his life to serve others.

He has many accomplishments on his impressive resume that include organizing and leading community events, mentoring young people, and working to improve the quality of life in his community.

K-9 top dog

K-9 Kilo was recognized at the Law and Order Ball for his outstanding career with the Lee County Sheriff’s Office.
fundraisers to collect money to help purchase uniforms for kids who otherwise would not be able to play sports; creating fishing tournaments that have reeled in thousands of dollars for a variety of youth oriented programs; creating a college placement program designed to help high school students fill out extensive college applications and prepare them for entrance exams; creating a basketball showcase program for talented kids who have been overlooked by college basketball programs, and the list of his contributions go on.

Congratulations Sgt. Sylvester “Sly” Smalls. You make us proud to serve alongside you.

K-9 Kilo gives all for handler

Lee County Sheriff’s Office K9 Kilo was named the top K-9 honoree at this year’s Law and Order Ball. The dog’s handler is Deputy Julio Lock.

Kilo was honored for stopping and holding onto a felon even after being Tasered when the suspect was able to grab one deputy’s Taser.

In another incident, Kilo found and apprehended a burglary suspect. The suspect choked Kilo until the dog lost consciousness. Deputy Lock then fought with the suspect until Kilo regained consciousness and rejoined the fight.

Officer of the Year Sgt. Sylvester Smalls with Sheriff Carmine Marceno.

Online phishing scams target holiday shoppers

If you are doing your holiday shopping online through popular websites such as Amazon, eBay or Etsy and are expecting shipments from UPS, FedEx or the U.S. Postal Service, listen up. Fraudsters once again are sending convincing and credible looking emails to holiday shoppers in a “phishing” scheme designed to get the attention and personal identifying information from consumers who mistakenly fall for these authentic looking emails.

Some examples of bogus emails a cyber-thief may use to steal your holiday cheer start with subject lines aimed at grabbing your attention, such as: “Your recent order cannot be processed due to problems with your method of payment,” or “You have a package ready to be delivered, please download attachment to confirm your delivery address.” In the body of the email, you likely will find instructions to click on a link or open an attachment with directions to enter your personal and financial information.

Safety tips
To keep from becoming a victim of this clever scheme, the Lee County Sheriff’s Office recommends following these safety tips:

- Never click on an embedded link or attachment located in an email. Instead, enter the company’s official website address in your browser, sign in to your account and check “your orders” to determine if the email you received matches your order information. If you do not have an online account or do not know how to create one, call the number located on the website, not the number in the email.
- UPS, FedEx and the U.S. Postal Service do not request payments, personal or financial information, account numbers or passwords in an unsolicited manner through email, mail or phone.
- Analyze the salutation. Is the email addressed to a vague “valued customer, ma’am or sir?” If so, watch out. Most legitimate businesses will use a personal salutation with your first and last name.
- Be on the lookout for unofficial “From” addresses. Fraudsters often use email addresses that are similar to, but not the same as, a company’s official email address. For instance, if you receive an official email from Amazon, it will always come from @amazon.com.

You can report a phishing email to the FBI’s IC3 at www.ic3.gov, www.FTC.gov/complaint, or contact the Sheriff’s Office Fraud Line at (239) 258-3292.

LAW ENFORCEMENT DEPUTIES OF THE QUARTER

Law enforcement is a dangerous business and often times deputies do not know what they will encounter when responding to their daily calls for service. This is exactly what happened on the evening of Sept, 12 when Deputy Tom Robinson and Deputy Matt Ryan were dispatched to what they thought was a disturbance call. Instead it turned out to be an encounter with an “invisible killer.” As both deputies arrived on scene, they saw a young girl laying on the ground in the doorway of the residence who appeared to be unconscious. While checking on the medical condition of the girl, Robinson and Ryan heard the sound of a generator and feared carbon monoxide poisoning may have spread throughout the home.

Knowing there was a possibility that additional victims were inside the home, the deputies entered and discovered the near lifeless bodies of two young children, two teenagers, and a pregnant mother.

This unexpected discovery of additional family members overcome by what was now certain to be carbon monoxide poisoning required quick thinking and brave action. Together, Robinson and Ryan safely carried the unconscious victims to a makeshift triage set up by EMS where they eventually regained consciousness.

This event could have ended tragically had it not been for the selfless actions taken by Deputy Robinson and Deputy Ryan. We are proud to recognize these hero’s as the recipients of the 2018 Deputy of the 3rd Quarter.

CORRECTIONS DEPUTY OF THE QUARTER

Congratulations to Corrections Deputy David Lopez-Arocho for being selected as the Corrections Deputy of the 3rd Quarter for his assistance and leadership in the design and repair of the Sheriff’s Office Tactical Obstacle Course.

In early 2018, members of the Lee County CERT Team began a project to restore the course after it suffered serious damage from water intrusion, wildlife and severe weather.

Deputy Lopez-Arocho was instrumental in organizing a team of volunteer workers, including employees and local tradesmen, who not only donated their time but used their own personal supplies as well. This restoration project cost less than $500 and saved the Sheriff’s Office a significant amount of money.

This was a very large undertaking that required time, talent, and commitment. Thank you to all who participated and to Deputy Lopez-Arocho for leading the way.

VOLUNTEER OF THE QUARTER

Ralph Waldo Emerson once said, “The purpose of life is not to be happy. It is to be useful, to be honorable, to be compassionate, and to have it make some difference that you have lived and lived well.”

It is with great pleasure we recognize V.O.I.C.E. volunteer Gary Novatny as the Lee County Sheriff’s Office Volunteer of the 3rd Quarter for his selfless acts of kindness and compassion for the family of slain Fort Myers Police Officer Adam Jobbers-Miller.

During the week after Officer Jobbers-Miller was murdered, Gary was an invaluable resource for his grieving family members by providing them with transportation to and from the hospital, airport and hotel, as well as picked up donated food and other miscellaneous errands.

He responded generously and without hesitation to meet the needs of loved ones during a very difficult time.

We are proud to have V.O.I.C.E. member Gary Novatny as part of our LCSO family.

Celebrating Safe Communities

This is a time set aside for residents and law enforcement to spotlight the Celebrate Safe Communities initiative by joining together to promote community safety, citizen crime prevention programs and relations building between neighbors, police and the public.

Call Community Relations at (239) 258-3280 to find out how you can help keep your community safe from crime and prepared for any emergency.

CIVILIAN OF THE QUARTER

Lee County Sheriff’s Office employee Christine Althoff often spends her days working alongside detectives collecting and processing evidence at the scene of a crime. Investigators rely on her expertise and knowledge in her role as a Crime Scene Technician to find clues left behind by criminals that can be as minute as a drop of blood.

Recently, Althoff took it upon herself to research the identity of an unknown person whose skeletal remains were found in Lehigh Acres. Utilizing results gathered from an anthropological investigation that determined the skeleton belonged to a male approximately 20-40 years of age and a forensic artist’s reconstruction of the man’s skull, she found defects in the male’s teeth that appeared to be visually unique. With this key piece of information, Althoff reviewed unreported missing persons in Lee County and found a possible match. She took to social media, found photos on Facebook of the missing person, and compared those pictures to the sketch provided by the artist and the photographs taken of the descendant’s teeth found in the skeletal remains. In the comparison of evidence, she found many similarities and was able to provide her findings to the lead detective in the case.

We are proud to recognize Christine Althoff as the Civilian of the Third Quarter for her relentless efforts and detailed work in this case.
